First Class Show.

"An Editor's Troubles" again made a good audience laugh to split at the Orpheum last night.
There is nothing funnier to people than the woes of newspaper men. Jim Post suffers like a martyred one so well that nobody can believe he hasn't "been there" in reality. The entire program is exactly entertaining and, without speaking in the conventional strain, has positively not one word or action to offend the fastidious. As for the musical features, nothing superior has ever been presented at a variety entertainment in Honolulu. The Hiber-nian reporter et al. will appear last time tonight. "Our Honolulu Lady," neighbor J. B. Bailey's song, is beautifully sung by Miss Myrtle Graham.

barking passengers and mails and Fish Vendor Fined.

In the Police Court this forenoon Akina, a Chinaman, was fined $1 and costs on the charge of selling fish at places other than those permitted by the Board of Health. Akina pleaded guilty to the charge but stated that he bought a half dollar's worth of fish at the market and had then sold some of this to a blind woman who was unable to go to market.
David Kelipio's assistant told a different story. He stated that he had followed the fellow from one place to another. The Chinaman had asked at each door whether or no the people wanted any fish. The man was a regular vendor.
